My Luck in a Tunnel.

I am an old miner. Not one of the nowaday stripe, but on old forty-nine Californian miner. I have been engaged in all description of mining transactions, except the new-fangled one of mining stock in companies—"feet," I believe they call it. Among my varied undertakings was one operation in a tunnel, in which I and my partners engaged in the summer of 1852.

One afternoon in that year, as I was carrying up a bucket of water from the river to our tent at the top of the bank, my foot caught under a large stone, and my perpendicular was at once changed to a horizontal posture, while the water from the overturned bucket spread itself in various directions.

I raised myself to my feet again, and picking up the bucket was about to retrace my steps to the river, when my attention was attracted by a folded paper, which had been placed under the stone causing my fall. When my foot tripped, the stone was overturned, and the paper folded in letter form, lay exposed to view. Bending over, I picked it up, and proceeded to examine it. I was written with pencil, in characters very irregularly and stiffly formed, as if made by a person with a wounded hand. The contents were as follows:

If this letter should fall into the hands of any person, I wish to inform them that I have been attacked and mortally wounded by my two partners who wish to obtain my money. Failing to discover it, after wounding me, they have fled, leaving me here to die. Whoever gets this letter will find, buried in a ravine at the foot of a 'blazed' tree, twenty five paces due north of this a bag containing five thousand dollars in gold dust. That it may prove more fortunate property to him than it has to me, is the hope of—

ANDREW FORREST.

I stood for some minutes after reading the letter like one awakened from a dream. I could not convince myself that the letter in my hand was a genuine document, and read it over and over again, thinking I might get some clue from the handwriting to the real author. It might be a trick got up by my partners to raise a laugh at my expense. No, the place where it was found, and the purely accidental discovery, rendered such a surmise very improbable. I sat down on a log and turned the matter over in my mind for some time. At last I got up, and pacing off the required distance in the direction mentioned in the letter, I came to a large tree. Carefully examining it, I discovered a scar clearly indicating that the tree had been "blazed" at some remote period. This was "confirmation strong as proof of Holy Writ;" and I immediately went to work to discover the locality of the ravine. Here I was at fault. Nothing of the kind was to be seen. To all appearances a stream of water never had passed in the neighborhood of the tree. This was not encouraging; and I sat down on the ground and read the letter again, to see if I had not mistaken some of its directions. No, I was in the right place, but where was the ravine?

A tap on the shoulder aroused me from my meditation, and on looking up I saw my two partners, who loudly abused me for having neglected the preparations for their supper. As an excuse I showed them the letter, and detailed the manner of finding it. To my surprise, they were as much excited by its perusal as I had been, and looked around perseveringly for the ravine, but without effect for some time. At last Jack Nesbitt, who had been a miner since '48, said:

"I think there has been a ravine here, but it has been filled up by the rains."

On close examination we decided that his suspicion was correct, and after some consultation we determined that the next morning we would commence digging.

Morning came, and we repaired to the spot with pick and shovel. Jack proposed that we should follow the course of the ravine, which appeared to run into the body of the hill, rather than to dig down in any one place. The result was that in a few days we had formed quite a cave in the side of the hill.

We worked at this tunnel for four days without finding the bag. On the fourth day Jack promised that he and my other partner, Bill Jennings, should carry the dirt down to the river, and wash it, leaving me to dig in the tunnel. In that way, they thought, we might at least "make grub," while searching for the hidden money. I thought the idea foolish, but as they had entered so eagerly into my views regarding the buried bag of dust, I made no objection to the plan, and dug away with redoubled energy. In fact, I had thought so much about the object of our search that I had become utterly regardless of anything else. I had dreamt of it when sleeping, mused on it when waking, and it had obtained complete control of my mind. Day after day we worked—I digging, and my companions washing; yet, strange to say, I did not become discouraged. They said nothing about the bag of gold dust, and I asked them nothing about the result of their washing the excavated soil.

We had worked about three weeks, and had formed a tunnel extending about fifteen feet into the hill, when, on one afternoon, completely tired out, I sat down to rest in the cave. I had only intended to sit a little while, but five minutes had not elapsed before I was fast asleep. I was awakened by a crash, and found my feet and legs completely covered by a mass of dirt and stones. The front part of the tunnel had fallen in, and I was in a manner burried alive. About ten feet of the tunnel remained firm, and from my observations of its structure prior to the accident, I was convinced that I had no reason to apprehend any danger in that quarter. My partners had carried dirt enough to the river to keep them busy for the rest of the day, so I had nothing to hope from their assistance. The question that first presented itself to my mind was. How long can life be sustained in this confined state? I had read a dozen times statistics in relation to the amount of air consumed hourly by a human being's lungs, but, like almost everybody else, had merely wondered at the time and then forgot the figures.

How much would I have given then to have been able to recall them! The next thought was. How can I proceed to extricate myself? This question was difficult of solution. If I went to work with a shovel and pick to clear away the dirt that had fallen, it was extremely likely that all which I could be able to remove would be immediately replaced by that which would fall from above. This was pleasant. I racked my brains to devise some means of liberating myself, but with out effect.

Leaning against the wall in utter despondency, I was about to throw myself on the ground and await my fate, when I observed quite a current of water, on a small scale, was making its way down the side of the cave. At first I was alarmed, as I thought it might loosen the earth above, and bring another mass down on my head. The next moment the thought struck me that it might be turned to my advantage. Why could I not so direct it that it would wash away sufficient earth in its progress to the outlet of the cave to make an opening large enough to allow me to crawl through it? If it only succeeded in making an air-hole, it would enable me to exist till my partners could come to my rescue. Carefully examining the course of the water, I succeeded in finding the spot where it entered the cave, and to my great joy ascertained that I could easily direct it by cutting a channel out of the side of my prison to the mass of earth that blocked up the entrance to the tunnel. The air at this time was quite hot and stifling, and I became aware that whatever was done must be done quickly, or I should perish for want of oxygen. After I had cut a channel for the water to flow towards the entrance, I enlarged the opening by which the stream entered the cave, and was delighted to observe that it flowed with redoubled force. Taking my shovel, I forced it through the moistened earth as far as I was able, and then awaited the further action of the water. In a few minutes I was enable to push it still further, till at last it was out of my reach. Then, placing my pick-handle against it, I pushed both as far as I could. With what eagerness did I watch to see the first opening made by the water, and I was soon gratified by observing that it flowed in a steady stream in the direction in which I had pushed the pick and shovel.

In a few minutes I discovered a faint glimmering in the distance, which might be an opening or the effect of an excited imagination, I scarcely knew which. But the doubt soon resolved itself into certainty, and an opening some five inches in diameter speedily disclosed itself. Larger and larger the opening grew; lump upon lump was washed away by the stream until the channel became large enough for me to place my head in and halloa lustily for assistance. Just as I was drawing my my head back I caught sight of a buck-skin bag. Hastily seizing it, I found it was the one we were in search of, and which, but for the accident, I would never have found. Wishing to surprise my companions, I concealed it, and redoubled my cries. In a few minutes they came running up the hill and soon liberated me from my unpleasant position.

On opening the bag we found about five thousand dollars worth of gold. We could never ascertain anything about Mr. Forrest, so we divided the money among us.

Saved by a Lark.

Patty lived in the country, in a white house with green blinds. There was a nice yard, with smooth cut grass and green trees where the birds would sit singing on the boughs. Patty had a swing, too—one that papa put up—of good strong rope, that would go up ever so high in the branches. Patty was six years old.

A short distance back from the house and gardens stood three great barns, filled with stores of hidden wonders. But she liked best to go with mamma in early spring into the woods to gather flowers, and search for ferns and soft, green mosses; or in the autumn, to go into the fields where papa was at work and make him a little visit.

One morning, in the harvest time Patty was alone at the door. Outside all was bright and sunny. Through the air came the softened hum of the distant reapers. Patty thought she would like to go out and see papa; and so in another moment the little feet were trotting across the fields. When she came into the wheat field she could see the men going down the side following the reaper, and leaving a shining row of bundles behind.

Patty tried to catch up, but they worked very fast; and by-and-by, growing tired, she sat down on a sheaf of wheat. By her side the uncut grain waved in the sunlight. An old beach tree cast a cool, pleasant shade—it was very beautiful there.

Suddenly a bird flew out of the wheat near by, singing a rich, clear song. Patty clapped her hands in delight.

"Perhaps there is a nest in there," she thought; and "In there" she went, looking with a pair of bright eyes eagerly about. And yes, there it was surely, a nest and three of the dearest, sweetest little birdies. Was there ever anything so funny as those downy little heads with the tiny bills wide open? Such a nice place for a nest, too, Patty thought. It was like being in a golden forest in there, for the grain was high above her head. The yellow straw laugh, too, a waying, murmuring laugh and tossed its head back and forth, but never whispered to the child of danger nor even told to the men coming rapidly along the story of the little girl hidden in its midst. The men came on, the machine leading them, the horses drawing steadily, and the knives cutting sharp and sure.

What was it that made the farmer stop his team all at once? Did he know that his little daughter was in danger? No, indeed; he thought she was safely cared for at home. But he was a noble man, with a large, kind heart and he had seen a lark fluttering wildly over the grain. So, as he would not willingly hurt the least of God's creatures, he said to the man: "Here, Tom, come and hold the team. There is a nest somewhere near the old tree yonder. I'll hunt it up, and you can drive around so as not to hurt the birds."

Ah, what a cry of surprise papa uttered when he found his darling Patty sitting there! How fast his heart beat when he thought of the danger she had been in! And how it thrilled and softened as he caught her up in his arms, and covering her face with kisses said, "It was the bird that saved her!"

When the first excitement was over and Patty had been safely carried home in her father's arms, and the men were going down the field again, leaving a wide, uncut space around the lark's nest, somebody—it was a great, rough looking man—said, while the tears glistened in his eyes, and his voice grew husky, "God bless the birds."

What Killed President Harrison.

There's President Harrison, who died so soon after he got into the White House. They all say he died from excitement, nervous prostration, and all that. But the man who waited on him said he died from too much dinner. "He had been in the White House but a few days when he told the waiter he had brought from Indiana to get him what he called a regular old-fashioned North Bend dinner That was Mr. Harrison's home in Indiana, and his order meant cabbage, pickled pork, fresh roast pork, peas, cucumbers, and sweet-potatoes, with corn-meal fritters for desert. That was on a day that Mr. Webster had a long talk with him. Mr. Webster was in his Cabinet, and he said: 'Harrison, if these office-seekers don't fill you that dinner will.' Well, sir, he never saw a well moment after that dinner. He had indigestion, headaches, and swimming in his head, and they say his mind wasn't right till he died. It might have been something else, but I believe it was that dinner that caused his death.'

TIT FOR TAT.

BY ALEX E. SWEET.

'You are not going out to-night again, are you, Henry?'

'Yes, my dear.'

'And where are you going, if I may ask?'

'Oh, I am only going to spend the evening with a few friends. I will take the front door key along, so you will not need to get up on my account.'

Mrs. Schmelzer sighed.

'This is the fifth night you have been away from home and left me here alone,' said Mrs. Schmelzer, bitterly. 'I don't see why people get married at all if that's the way they do. If I was only an old maid I could at least go to bed to sleep. I would not be obliged to lay awake half the night waiting to hear you come tumbling up the stairs. It's really too bad, Henry, too bad!'

'Emma, you surprise me,' replied the young husband, with great dignity.

'It is about your own conduct that you should be surprised. How would you like to be troubled in such a heartless manner night after night?' said Mrs. Schmelzer.

'If I was a married woman,' retorted Mr. Schmelzer, 'I should think it very natural that my husband should go where it pleases him best, and if I was displeased at anything he did, I would speak to him in quite a different tone, for you are not adopting the means to make home pleasant for your husband.'

'Is there really any way by which home can be made pleasant to a husband?'

'I suppose there is, but I don't think I have ever prevented you from going out whenever you felt like it.'

'That is so, but I never stay out until three o'clock in the morning.'

'You can stay out as long as you please if you have any good reason for doing so.'

'I wouldn't stay away from home for anything in the world. O, Henry, you can't have any idea of how tedious it is when you are away.'

'Why don't you read? If you don't want to read you can sew shirts. That's what my mother used to do when my father stayed out at night; but I must go. Good night, dear,' and off he went.

From that time on, Henry heard no more reproaches about his staying out so late. He went out almost every evening. One day he was brought home in a carriage. He had sprained his ankle. The injury was very severe. The doctor said he would be confined to the house at least two weeks. At first he suffered severe pains, and his wife did all in her power to relieve his sufferings. She put cold applications to his swollen limb, and alleviated his agony by reading to him. He immediately began to improve. While he no longer suffered physical pains, he was obliged to remain in his room, as the ankle was too weak to bear his weight. Now was the time for Mrs. Schmelzer to carry out a little plan she had nurtured.

One evening she appeared in the room of her husband dressed to go out. She had a rose in her hair, and had otherwise made herself as attractive as possible.

'I am going out, dear Henry, to attend a little social gathering at my sister's. You need not get up for me. You can go to bed. I'll take the door key along and let myself in.'

'All right,' responded Henry, cheerfully, griting his teeth as she closed the door. That's a very nice arrangent, for a woman to leave her husband at home and go cavorting all over the neighborhood. What shall I do to amuse myself?'

Fortunately a fresh magazine had arrived that afternoon so the evening fleeted without his noting the flight of time.

Mrs. Schmelzer did not get home until very late, but her husband did not reproach her. He was too proud for that.

Next night she was off again, and so for several consecutive evenings Schmelzer had to sit up, and he found it very tedious. At last she went to a ball. She wass accompanid by her brother. She arrived at home simultaneously with the milkman. On opening the door she saw her husband white with rage.

'Madame,' he said, sternly, 'you have been absent all night.'

'Yes,' responded Mrs. Schmelzer, coolly; 'the ball did not break up until 'the sma' hours anent the twa.''

Mr. Schmelzer was already very much exasperated, but springing that old gag upon him aroused him to a perfect frenzy.

'Do you know,' he said in a hoarse voice, smashing the water pitcher to smithereens, 'that you have been out prowling around every night for a week while I have been confined to the house by myself.'

'Henry, I am very much surprised at your language.'

'You are surprised, are you? Do you suppose I am going to stand this any longer?'

'If I were a married man,' said Mrs. Schmelzer, 'I would think it very natural that my wife should go where she likes it best. If you are displeased, you should address me in a different tone. You should endeavor to make home pleasant for me.'

'What!' exclaimed Mr. Schmelzer.

'Make my home agreeable to me,' replied Mrs. Schmelzer, 'and perhaps I'll stay in more than I do.'

'But you didn't have a sprained ankle,' interposed the astounded husband.

'That is so; but a woman is tied up in the house the whole year around, as much as you have been for the last week or so with that sprained ankle.'

'So you are playing for even?'

'Just so. I hated to do it. It almost broke my heart to treat you with such apparent neglect, but I only wanted to make you appreciate what I had gone through.'

'Emma, come to my arms. Take care not to sit on that ankle. I was wrong and I'll own up.'

'This is all I want. I will not go out until you are well.'

'And then when I go out you shall go along with me, as is right and proper.'

And he kept his word.—From the German in Texas Siftings.

Arizona Cliff Dwellers.

A Star reporter encountered at the depot Deputy Sheriff Johnny Crowley of Wilcox, Cochise county, who referred to a recent pilgrimage he made to the Rio Bonito country in pursuit of a band of cattle thieves. He describes the country visited as being almost destitute of inhabitants, portions of which have never been invaded by white intruders except, perhaps, by desperate men whose crimes have driven them to seek the safety which this terra incognita grants. In one of the deep canons of the Rio Bonito, perched upon one of its sides, some 70 or more feet from the river surface, Mr. Crowley discovered a number of deserted habitations of the prehistoric cliff dwellers. From the bottom of the canon, looking up toward the cliff houses, a series of steps had been hewn, or cut, in the precipitous side of the granite wall by means of which the now extinct race were enabled to make their entry and exit to and from their places of abode. The houses consist of caves excavated in the wall, the external openings being large enough to admit the passage of a man in a stooping posture. Each house has only one room, ranging in size from 10 to 20 feet square. The front of the dwellings, or that side which looks down upon the canon, is about one foot in thickness, and is in all cases pierced with small orifices, which may have been designed for purposes of ventilation, or possibly used as portholes through which the inmates defend themselves from attack. As in all probability the builders of these eerie habitations were entirely unfamiliar with the use of the high explosives now in vogue the means by which the herculean labor of making less excavations in a solid granite wall was accomplished becomes a question of much interest. —Tucson Star.

An Old-Fashioned School-Master.

A hundred and fifty years ago, among the German settlers of Pennsylvania, there was a remarkable old school-master, whose name was Christopher Dock. For three days he taught school at a little place called Skippack, and then for the next three days he taught at Salford.

Whenever one of his younger scholars succeeded in learning his A B C, the good Christopher Dock required the father of his pupil to give his son a penny, and also asked his mother to cook two eggs for him as a treat in honor of his diligence. To poor children in a new country these were fine rewards. At various other points in his progress, an industrious child in one of Dock's schools received a penny from his father and two eggs cooked by his mother. All this time he was not counted a member of the school, but only as on probation. The day on which a boy or girl began to read was the great day. If the pupil had been diligent in spelling, the master, on the morning after the first reading day, would give a ticket carefully written or illuminated with his own hand. This read: "Industrious—one penny." This showed that the scholar was now really received into the school.

There were no clocks or watches; the children came to school one after another, taking their places near the master, who sat writing. They spent their time reading out of the Testament until all were there. But every one who succeeded in reading his verse without mistake stopped reading, and came and sat at the writing-table to write. The poor fellow who remained last on the bench was called Lazy Scholar.

The funniest of Dock's rewards was that which he gave to those who made no mistake in their lessons. He marked a large O with chalk on the hand of the perfect scholar. Fancy what a time the boys and girls must have had trying to go home without rubbing out this O!—St. Nicholas.

Taylor's Best Shot.

James Taylor was born in the neighborhood of Tye River Mills, Va., in 1805. He will be 80 years of age on Sept. 10, and never swore an oath, never tasted intoxicating liquors, never chewed tobacco, but is an inveterate smoker. He never rode on a steamboat or railway train, and has not been three miles from home since 1861. He was the father of five children, three boys and two girls. Both daughters are dead. He listened with the profoundest interest to the story of Bogardus and Carver, and with a smile he shrugged his shoulders, saying:

'Thar, stranger, you're comin' to the pint now. Why when I was young,' and he stopped to think; 'when I was young, about 20, I guess, I could outshoot any man in the valley. We used to swing an apple on a string, an' mountin' our horses, gallop like mad and fire at it. I could hit it every time. I could knock an apple off a post nine times out'n ten fifty yards away, an' I could take the bill off a bird in a tree as clear as a whistle an' never disturb a feather. That's a fact.'

'What do you regard as the most skilful shot you ever made?' we asked.

'You mean the best one I ever made; yes, an' I might say the happiest o' my life.'

We nodded in the affirmative.

'Well strangers,' he began, 'I'll tell you all about it. It was years ago, though; I was 21 then an' but few people lived hereabout, an' what did war a good way apart. Down in t'ther end of the valley lived John Angleford, who had a darter, and I loved her like mad, but, some way or tother, she didn't kinder want to hitch to me. About three miles away lived another man who had a son, an' she tuk to that boy. This made me kind of jealous like, an' bim an' me used to fight often. But I didn't give in; I'd made up my mind to get that gal if I could. One day in the fall o' the year—I'll never forget that day—I shouldered "Old Faithful" that's my musket, and went up inter the mountains to see what kind o' game was abroad. Well, I reckon I'd been trudgin' around in the thicket for nigh on three hours, without seein' of a thing, when all of a sudden I heard a scream that almost froze my blood. I heard it agin, and I knowed it war a woman's holler; so I jes cocks "Old Faithful" an' starts through the bushes. But afore I got to the opening I heard horses' hoofs aclankin and aclatterin over the stones. I hurried right on to the openin', an' thar I seed what it war all about. I seed it at a glance. Old Angleford's horse was a tearing along as if the old boy war arter him, an' thar war, Sary Jane, her face as white as chalk, a clinging to his back for dear life, an' right betwix'her an' the horse's head, his claws driven into the flesh of the horses' neck, atryin' to reach the gal, war the biggest catamount I ever seed.'

'Your time's come, John,' says I to myself, 'steady now; aim right, an you'll win the gal.' Jes'as that ar horse with the screaming gal got opposite to me I blazed away for the catamount's head. I knew it war life or death to one of the three on 'em; but I didn't miscalculate; I never did. The load went into that ar catamount's head, an' he rolled over dead on the ground; the hoss stumbled, and as he disappeared over the precipice I cotched the faintin' gal in my arms an' hurried down the road with her to her home. For a long time she had a ragin' fever, and kept a callin' "Is he come? Is he come?" Nobody could tell what it meant. You see men them days would go off an' stay for days a huntin,' so the absence o' old Struther's boy didn't make anybody think strange. Well one day she cum to, an' the first thing she asked about war if Al. Struthers had cum home. Thinks I, there's somethin' quar—somethin' wrong about this, so I'll see. Away up thar war the catamount had jumped on Sary Jane's hoss I found him—ugh! what a sight I seed. Thar he war, stark dead, a stickin' on an oak limb that had gone clar through his body, an' his horse war dead, away down on the sharp pointed rocks below. We give the poor fellow decent burial. The only way I could account for his death war that Sary Jane's screamin' frightened his hoss, an' runnin' in among the trees he got caught on the sharp pint o' the low down limb.'

Here he refilled his pipe and said:

'Come in strangers, and I'll show you suthin'.'

We followed him into the cabin.

'This are 'Old Faithful,'' he said, taking down an ancient-looking gun from the rack and patting it affectionately, 'what done the business for me. An' this,' he continued, unrolling a musty looking parcel, 'are the skin o' the tarnel varmint that brought about the happy change in Sary Jane, an thar,' pointing out to a white-haired old lady, who sat rocking and smiling in a corner of the room, 'am the old gal herself.'

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6TH, 1885.

Published by R. A. BUMILLER.

THE State Convention of the prohibitionists will be held at Harrisburg to-morrow, August 7th.

IT is stated that the National Guard of Pennsylvania will attend General Grant's funeral which will take place in New York next Saturday afternoon.

UNDER the present democratic administration, which by the way is one of reform, the public debt has been reduced $7,000,000 during the month of July. This is indeed a creditable showing for the democracy.

THE cholera is spreading in Madrid, the capital of Spain, and is making its way into the better parts of the city, which had so far been spared. 3,168 new cases and 1,252 deaths were reported throughout that country last Wednesday.

JOHN CADWALADER was appointed by the President last Thursday as Collector of Customs for the district of Philadelphia, succeeding General Hartranft, the former collector. Mr. Cadwalader was for many years a prominent lawyer, his practice having been principally in the Orphans' Court.

THE Western Union Telegraph Company contributed $5000 for the statue to be erected for Grant in Riverside Park, New York. The Grant monument committee issued an address in which they invite the co-operation of the people in the United States in the form of a great national subscription. In due time local committees are to be appointed to represent the various localities throughout the country, whose duty it shall be to solicit contributions and thereby help to promote the project of erecting a national monument over Gen. Grant's grave. Chester A. Arthur, William R. Grace, Hamilton Fish and Richard T. Greenser constitute the executive committee for the erection of said monument.

The Governor Appoints a Legal Holiday.

HARRISBURG, August 1.—Governor Pattison issued the following proclamation to-night:

"WHEREAS, On Saturday, the eighth day of August, A. D. 1885, the great soldier and distinguished citizen, whose death the nation mourns, will be laid to rest, it is fitting that the people of the Commonwealth, in his future honor, should pause from their accustomed labors when the sad and final rites of burial take place. The loss in the death of General Grant will long be fresh in the public mind. His countrymen, to whom his life service was productive of great benefits, will long feel the weight of the general sorrow. In loosing the great and good; in testifying sorrow at the loss of the faithful and heroic, the people show their appreciation of public worth and teach a lesson of public and patriotic duty.

"As a tribute of respect to his memory and in testimony of the sorrow of the Commonwealth at the death of General Ulysses S. Grant, I do appoint Saturday, the 8th day of August, A. D. 1885, the day of his burial, to be a legal holiday, and do recommend that upon that day there shall be a general cessation of business throughout this Commonwealth."

Post-Offices will be Closed.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Postmaster-General has issued an order to the Postmasters, directing all the Post-offices in the United States to be closed between 1 and 5 p. m., on Saturday, August 8, the day appointed for General Grant's funeral obsequies.

Thursday's Thunder Storm at Mount McGregor.

During a storm at Mount McGregor two men were struck by lightning almost directly in front of the cottage where General Grant's body laid. They were stretched out upon the plank walk, beneath the rustic covering of the pathway. One of them was Colonel W. B. Beck, commanding Battery A, Artillery. He was in uniform and was reclining on one elbow. The other man was lying prone and was unconscious. He wore civilian's dress. His face was badly bruised on the right side. He proved to be General R. H. Jackson, the commandant at Fort Columbus, Governor's Island, who had arrived during the afternoon to take charge of the camp on Mount McGregor under Colonel Jones. Both men had been struck by lightning. They were at once conveyed to rooms in the hotel and Dr. Douglas attended both of them. Colonel Beck seemed to be the least injured. At 7:30 Dr. Douglas stated that there was a numbness about General Jackson's lower extremities, but that he would soon improve.

THE PALL-BEARERS.

President Cleveland, at Mrs. Grant's Request, Names the Men to Do the Last Honors.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The President, who was requested by Mrs. Grant to select the pall-bearers for General Grant's funeral, recently telegraphed her to know if she had any preferences or suggestions to make in this matter. He received a reply from her to-day by telegraph, saying that it was her wish that he should name the pall-bearers and that the only suggestion she would make was that in case any prominent Union officer, like General Sherman or Lieutenant General Sheridan, be selected, a leading Confederate officer, like General Johnson or General Buckner, be also included in the list. The President to-day named the following to act as pall-bearers: General William T. Sherman, Lieutenant General Philip H. Sheridan, Admiral David D. Porter, Vice Admiral Stephen C. Rowan, General Joseph E. Johnson, of Virginia; General Simon B. Buckner, of Kentucky; Hamilton Fish, of New York; George S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts; George W. Childs, of Pennsylvania; John A. Logan, of Illinois; George Jones, of New York; Oliver Hoyt, of New York.

A TERRIBLE CYCLONE AT PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—A terrible cyclone sweeping up the Delaware river this afternoon, struck this city near Greenwich Point, demolishing a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company and thence taking its course across the river, wrecking the river steamboat, Major Reybold and the ferry boat Peerless. The storm blew Pilot Emedy Townsend and Capt. Eugene Reybach, of the steamboat Reybold, into the river, drowning the former and fearfully injuring the captain. The Peerless was swept clear almost to the water's edge, and a horse and wagon were hurled into the water and sunk together to the bottom. The storm then passed over to New Jersey, striking at the ship yards below Kaign's Point, destroying the buildings of the establishment. It then took a course along the New Jersey river front, demolishing all buildings in its path, up to Bridge avenue, Camden. At this point, the cyclone took an easterly course to Fifth street, Camden, embracing in its path all that section of the city between Second and Fifth street to the Delaware River which washes the northern section of the river, passing over the river and skirting Petty's Island. The storm passed over that part of the ward known as Richmond, in this city. In its ravages in Camden scores of dwelling-houses were unroofed and some of them blown down, and the damages to the business property along the river front is enormous. Hundreds of families are rendered homeless, and one victim Charles Daisy, was killed outright at the American Dredging Company's wharf. Another, Harry Stevens, had his leg cut off by a flying piece of timber, and will probably die. The path of the storm through Richmond was marked with death and destruction. The track was due north from Port Richmond coal wharves. About 150 dwelling houses were wrecked or so badly damaged as to be rendered unfit for habitation, and 200 families were driven from their homes to be cared for by their neighbors. A number of people were seriously and some fatally injured.

Half a Mile of Fire.

A terrible conflagration in Toronto, Ont., destroyed over $1,000,000 worth of property last Monday. The fire started in a mammoth eight-story brick building, known as the Glucose factory, at 12:30 in the morning and raged at a fearful rate until nearly five o'clock in the afternoon. The heat was so intense that the firemen were utterly powerless. A strong east wind, at times almost a hurricane fanned the flames to an awful rapidity. Almost everything, stationary and afloat, from Princess to Young streets, a distance of over half a mile, was burned, among which were some valuable vessels.

—TESTIMONIALS many times are cut from the whole cloth, and for every one voluntarily given in praise of a meritorious article an unscrupulous and dishonest manufacturer can write up a dozen for his worthless products; but the following card from the traveller of Sower, Potts & Co., a publishing house known in almost every state in the Union, is so emphatic and to the point that we cannot refrain from giving it in evidence:

'Georgetown, Pa.

J. A. McDonald, Dear Sir:—Please forward by express at once one bottle Curtis' Carmelite Cordial to C. F. Camp, Esq., Stroudsburg, Monroe Co., Pa. It cured me so quickly and completely last summer that I recommend it highly to all my friends.'

Single bottle guaranteed to cure any case cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera morbus, summer complaint, cramps or any intestinal irritation whatever, or money refunded in every instance. Should have a place in every household and every traveler's satchel.

Chronic Ulcers and Catarrh.

Mrs. Christian Zelle, aged sixty-three years, of Carondelet, St. Louis, Missouri, had a chronic ulcer on her leg which had been running for forty-three years. To use her own language, she had "tried all the doctors," but without perceptible benefit. Two of the most noted of this city advised her, as the only alternative from death, to have the leg amputated below the knee. She was troubled with an intolerable itching sensation, which only gave way to a distracting pain, which made death her daily wish. She could not sleep or rest. On March 21, this year, she commenced using Dr. Hartman's PERUNA, and to-day the leg is entirely healed, and the thankful old lady says she has slept more during the last three months than she did in the previous forty-three years.

Miss Alice Brady, of East St. Louis, Illinois, suffered from catarrh ophthalmia for five years. On April 27 she began treatment under Dr. Hartman. For a year before she was a patient of two of the best known oculists of this city, but they signally failed to help her. After one month under Dr. Hartman and his PERUNA, her eyes have almost entirely healed, and, according to her own statement, he has done more for her in this short space of time than the oculists did in the previous whole year. PERUNA, of course, did it.

Miss Annie Baker, First Avenue, Milwaukee, writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending PERUNA. For years I have suffered from Asthma. I was induced to try PERUNA. It promptly relieved the paroxysms, and its continued use renders their recurrence less and less frequent. I am confident it will cure me completely."

Walker Brothers, druggists, Batavia, O., write: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN, Columbus, O., Dear Sir: Some two weeks ago I had a very peculiar case, and after a few questions were answered, I came to the conclusion it was catarrh of the stomach of the worst kind, of ten years' standing. The patient had consulted every physician far and near. I persuaded her to try your PERUNA and MANALIN. She had been having spasms every three or four days, and the fifth dose kept them off, and they have not returned since."

W. M. Griffith, Ashland, Ky., writes: "The large chronic ulcers of fifteen months' standing, are entirely healed. The swelling, pain and itching have all subsided, the leg is healed, and I am perfectly well. PERUNA is a wonderful remedy."

The delegate elections must be conducted in accordance with the following rules:

1. The Democratic County Convention of Centre county shall be composed of one delegate for every fifty Democratic votes polled at the Presidential or Gubernatorial election next preceeding the convention. The allotment of delegates to the several election districts in the county shall be made by the Standing Committee of the county at its first meeting in every alternate year succeeding the Presidential and Gubernatorial elections, and shall be in proportion to the Democratic votes cast in each district at such elections.

2. The election for delegates to represent the different districts in the annual Democratic County Convention shall be held at the usual place of holding the general elections for each district, on the Saturday preceeding the second Tuesday of August in each and every year, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m., on said day and continuing until 6 o'clock p. m. The delegates so elected shall meet in County Convention at the Court House, at Bellefonte, on the Tuesday following at 2 o'clock p. m.

3. The said delegate elections shall be held by an election board, to consist of the member of county committee for each district and two other Democratic voters thereof who shall be appointed or designated by the County Committee. In case any of the persons so constituting the board shall be absent from the place of holding the election for a quarter of an hour after the time appointed by rule First for the opening of the same, his or their places shall be filled by an election, to be conducted viva voce, by the Democratic voters present at that time.

4. Every qualified voter of the district, who at the late general election voted the Democratic ticket shall be entitled to a vote at the delegate election; and any qualified elector of the district who will pledge his word of honor to support the Democratic ticket at the next general election shall be permitted to vote at the delegate elections.

5. The voting at all delegate elections shall be by ballot; upon which ballot shall be written or printed the name or names of the delegate or delegates voted for, together with any instructions which the voter may desire to give the delegate or delegates. Each ballot shall be received from the person voting the same by a member of the election board, and by him deposited in a box or other receptacle provided for that purpose, to which box or other receptacle no person but members of the board shall have access.

6. No instructions shall be received or recognized unless the same be voted upon the ballot as provided in Rule Fourth, nor shall such instructions if voted upon the ballot, be binding upon the delegates, unless one half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning the same office. Whenever half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning any office, the delegates elected at such elections shall be held to be instructed to support the candidates having the highest number of votes for such office.

7. Each election board shall keep an accurate list of the names of all persons voting at such elections, when the list of voters, together with a full and complete return of such election, containing an accurate statement of the persons elected delegates and all instructions voted, shall be certified by said board to the county convention, upon printed blanks to be furnished by the county committee.

8th. Wherever from any district qualified Democratic voters, in numbers equal to five times the delegates which such district has in the county convention, shall complain in writing of an undue election or false return of delegates or of instructions, in which complaints the alleged facts shall be specifically set forth and verified by the affidavit of one or more persons, such complaints shall have the right to contest the seat of such delegates or the validity of such instructions. Such complaint shall be heard by a committee of five delegates to be appointed by the president of the convention; which said committee shall proceed to hear the parties, proofs and allegations, and as soon as may be report to the convention what delegates are entitled to seats therein, and what instructions are binding upon such delegates. Whereupon the convention shall proceed immediately upon the call of the yeas and nays to adopt or reject the report of the contesting parties; in which call of the yeas and nays the names of the delegates whose seats are contested or whose instructions are disputed shall be omitted.

9th. All delegates must reside in the district they represent. In case of absence or inability to attend, substitutions may be made from citizens of the district.

10th. Delegates must obey the instructions given them by their respective districts, and, if violated, it shall be the duty of the president of the convention to cast the vote of such delegate or delegates in accordance with the instructions, and the delegate or delegates so offending shall be forthwith expelled from the convention, and shall not be eligible to any office or place of trust in the party for a period of two years.

11th. In the convention, a majority of all voters shall be necessary to a nomination; and no person's name shall be excluded from the list of candidates until after the third ballot or vote, when the person receiving the least number of votes shall be omitted and struck from the roll, and so on at each successive vote until a nomination be made.

12th. If any person who is a candidate for any nomination before a county convention shall be proven to have offered or paid any money, or other valuable thing, or made any promise of a consideration or reward to any delegate for his vote, or to any person with a view of inducing or securing the votes of delegates, or if the same shall be done by any other person with the knowledge and consent of such candidate, the name of such candidate shall be immediately stricken from the list of candidates; or if such fact be ascertained after his nomination, shall be struck from the ticket and the vacancy supplied by a new nomination, and in either case, such person shall be ineligible to any nomination by the convention, or to an election as a delegate thereafter. And in case it shall be alleged after the adjourning of the convention that any candidate put in nomination has been guilty of such acts or of any other fraudulent practices to obtain such nomination, the charges shall be investigated by the county committee, and such steps taken as the good of the party may require.

13th. If any delegate shall receive any money or other valuable thing, or accept the promises of any consideration or reward to be paid, delivered or secured to him or to any person for such candidate, as an inducement for his vote, upon proof of the fact to the satisfaction of the convention, such delegate shall be forthwith expelled, and shall not be received as a delegate to any further convention, and shall be ineligible to any party nomination.

14th. Cases arising under the 8th 12th and 13th rules shall have precedence over all other business in convention until determined.

15th. That the term of the chairman of the county committee shall begin on the first day of January of each and every year.

16th. That the delegates from the several boroughs and townships be authorized, in conjunction with the chairman of the county committee, to appoint the members of the committee for the various boroughs and townships.

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure,

Every Farm an Experimental Station.

The best analysis of any fertilizer is in the farmer's own hands. Soil tests are reliable tests to determine the value of any manure. An analysis is only an intelligent suggestion, but actual trial by the farmer proves conclusively whether a fertilizer will give good crops or not. For six years our $25 Phosphate has stood severe field tests. The best results have been obtained by intelligent farmers who use it season after season in preference to any other brand. If you have not used it yet, we hope you will do so this season.

Hay Fever Specific.

I found it a specific for Hay Fever. For ten years I have been a great sufferer from August 9th till frost. Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found.--Frank B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publishers, Indianapolis, Ind. 28 4t

—A grand picnic will be held in Reuben Grimm's grove, ¼ mile east of Madisonburg, on the 5th of September (Saturday.) Balloon Ascension, Cake Walk, Rope Walking, Fishing Pond. —The members of the fire department are specially requested by the foreman to meet at the truck house tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. It is the intention to give the building a coat of paint and whitewash and as many members as can possibly be there are requested to assist in the work. Those who have brushes should bring them along.

—A grand opportunity will be given to the women of the Lutheran churches to show forth genuine christian hospitallty and good heartedness at the Missionary Convention, to be held in Aaronsburg, September 29th, and 30th. Let all unite their endeavors and make it a successful meeting. It promises to be a good convention. Auxiliary societies will report for the year.

—If the weather be fair next Saturday the Lutheran Lawn Social at Aaronsburg promises to be a very pleasant gathering. The Millheim band is billed to furnish the music in the evening, while the managers of the social will serve of the very best ice cream and cakes to be had. We should all make our arrangements to attend and spend a few hours agreeably with our Aaronsburg friends.

—Theodore Deshner's gunsmith shop in Bellefonte, is well located—being handy to the depot and near to Spring Creek bridge. Mr. Deshner the proprietor makes it a point always to keep a complete and fine line of Guns, Revolvers, Fishing Tackle, etc., and is doing a good and prosperous business. Our sportsmen when going to Bellefonte should never fail to call at his place for the very best articles.

—Fierce mountain fires raged on Egg Hill, Gregg township and around Philips Creek, north of this place, last Thursday and Friday. Several shanties which had been erected preparatory for the harvest home picnic in Smith's woods, were detroyed by the fire on Friday night. The rumor circulating in this town that the George's Valley Lutheran church in the mountain had been burned, proved, upon closer inquiry, false.

—The Ladies' Mite Society of the Reformed church at Aaronsburg will give a musical and literary entertainment in their church on Friday evening the 7th of August. The Kister brothers and the Ocker sisters will contribute to the musical part of the programme. W. T. Auman, the master elocutionist of Millheim, will render some of his best selections. The entertainment will be free and all are invited to attend.

—NO ONE, better than the mothers, knows the amount of persuasion, threatenings and force required to induce the children to take, when necessary, a dose of the nauseating, sickening worm syrups; and no one more highly appreciates the virtues of McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. So pleasant and easy to take, so effective as a worm destroyer, the dose so small that the children never know they are taking a medicine. There is nothing in the shape of a vermifuge that can compare with them. Don't be deceived. Take no other. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the town council of the borough of Millheim, at a regular meeting held Aug. 1st, inst., passed resolutions requesting the undersigned to issue his proclamation to the citizens, recommending a general cessation of business, the tolling of the several church bells and the holding of a religious memorial service in the churches, on Saturday, August the 8th next, the day on which Gen. U. S. Grant will be laid into his grave:

Now therefore, approving of the action of council, I recommend that their resolutions be observed in letter and spirit, in honor of the great military hero and distinguished citizen, so recently departed this life.

A. C. MUSSER,
Millheim, Aug. 3rd, 1885. Chief Bur.

—That enterprising Bellefonte firm, Messrs. Joseph Bros. & Co., know just how to make business lively in dull times. They insert a conspicuous advertisement in the JOURNAL, to the contents of which we call the special attention of our readers. We feel assured from what we know of the firm, that they will give all their customers full value for their money, and will fully live up to the announcements in their advertisement. Their stock is complete in every department, and their prices so low that all can be accommodated. Do not forget to call on them when in Bellefonte.

—BOILS, pimples, skin grubs, black maggots, eruptions, scaly skin, &c., indicate poisoned blood, and besides being disagreeable to you, afflicted reader, they are unpleasant to your friends and those compelled to come in contact with you; you owe it as a duty to your health and your friends, to take a bottle or two of McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparilla Alterative, and be more pleasant and agreeable to look at. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

—Four different proclamations are to be observed next Saturday--President Cleveland orders all the post offices closed during the time of Grant's funeral, Gov. Pattison appoints the day a legal holiday in honor of the deceased hero, and chief-burgess Musser requests the citizens of Millheim to pay tribute to the dead ex president by appropriately decorating their houses and business places. Besides that the democratic voters of the county are called upon to elect delegates to the county convention. Better cut this item out so that you will not forget any part of the instructions.

—A real pleasant and quick ride we had on last Thursday over the new railroad to Bellefonte. The track seems to be in first-class condition and travel is already quite lively. The present schedule however is not very commodious for passengers from Coburn. This end of the county must either get up very early to reach Spring Mills in time for the morning train leaving there at 4.35, or else go in the forenoon train leaving Coburn at 9.45 and return at 10.35 to Spring Mills, six miles from home, without any chance of getting further that night. We were informed at Bellefonte that a change of schedule will take place in the near future, and for the sake of our end we hope the change may be for the better. The fare from Coburn to Bellefonte is 93 cts.

JULY 28th, 1885.

The "Journal" with its newsy columns is read with much interest. It is praised for its bright, clean type, locals and reliable information. It is well performing and fulfilling it duties and missions and should be well sustained. The newspaper is a powerful educator and the children in the homes quickly learn to read and appreciate the local paper. Good books and good papers exert a refining and elevating influence on the young. The habit of reading and study is to be coveted. It is Judge Tourger who says, "Ignorance and neglect are the mainsprings of mis rule." A thought well worth pondering over.

The Executive Committee of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of Central Penn. Synod held a meeting last week to devise liberally for the annual meeting this autumn, the time and place decided upon was Aaronsburg, Sept. 29 and 30 just before the meeting of Synod at Rebersburg. Rev. Dietzler assured the Committee of hearty co-operation of Pastor and people of his charge in the success of the meeting, which largely lies in the power of the congregations to help the Committee in making it the grandest and best convention yet held. It is essential to the furtherance of the cause, and the good of all interested that they be united in action and sympathy. Among those who have been invited and will be present to take part in the meetings will be Mrs. Dr. Hamma, Baltimore, Mrs. C. S. Weiser, York, Rev. J. A. Clutz, Baltimore, Rev. S. B. Barnitz, Omaha, Neb., Dr. C. L. Keedy, Hagerstown, Ill., and others. The programme will be interesting and edifying and the members of the churches in the charge as well as sister denominations are invited to attend the sessions.

Rev. C. E. Keller, of Salona has gone to Virginia, his home, for a months vacation.

The Harvest is ended. Some fields yielded fairly well. The Self-Binder, one of the greatest labor saying inventions among agricultural implements, has been extensively used.

The Lutherans of Lock Haven and others will take an excursion to Bell's Gap next Thursday. Loydsville is 2300 ft. above sea level, and the celebrated "Rhododendron Park" combined with all the natural attractions and the merry crowd will make it a pleasant picnic Excursion.

The Clintondale Campmeeting will convene Aug. 13. P. E. D.

CAMPMEETING AT MILLHEIM.—The ground which is now being prepared for the Campmeeting is located one third mile north of Millheim, in one of the finest groves bordering the town. It is surrounded with unparalleled scenery, virescent hills and moss-clad rocks. On either side a scene of unusual grandeur presents itself to the eye of the viewer. Not more than a few miles distant are the celebrated Penns Caves, which adds greatly to the prominence of the ground.

Now to the attendants of the campmeeting we would say that their expenditures can be largely alleviated by calling at D. S. Kauffman & Co's mammoth store, if in need of anything in our line, such as Dry Goods, nice Ready-made Suits, latest styles and lowest prices, Fancy Notions, such as Parasols, Embroideries, Silks, Silk Handkerchiefs, Gents' and Ladies' Ties, &c., Fine Cigars, Pure Drugs, Fresh Groceries, Provisions, etc. In plain English anything and everything handled in a first-class general store. A visit to the campground and a call at our store will convince you of the truth of the foregoing statements. Truly Your Friends,
D. S. KAUFFMAN & Co.

—THE Liver is the largest gland in the human organism and stands guard, as it were, at the portals of health. Properly performing its functions it eliminates all impurities and disease germs from the blood; failing in this misery and disease follows. An occasional dose of McDonald's Improved Liver Pills will insure regular, healthy and vigorous action of this great land, and save doctors' bills and days of misery. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation, after its test of many years, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

GIRLS' BEWARE!

The Alleged Trick of a Philidelphian to Entrap Easton and Bethlehem Girls.

EASTON, July 29.—A man who gave his name as Miller came to Easton last Monday and registered at the Gerver House. He then proceeded to engage girls to act as domestics for an organ manufacturer on Fairmount avenue, Philadelphia. Two Easton girls and a Bethlehem girl were engaged. One of the Easton girls was to have gone to the city yesterday on the 3 o'clock train, and the other was to have accompanied him last evening. Fearing that the offers and the action of the man were not honorable, one of the girls had a telegram sent to the the organ manufacturer, and an answer was promptly returned saying that no one had been authorized to hire girls for him, and that Miller is a fraud. A warrant for the arrest of Miller was then procured by the girls charging him with trying to induce the girls to go to the city for an unlawful purpose. It was given to Chief Tilton, but when the officer arrived at the hotel he found that Miller had disappeared without footing his board-bill. The girls are still here and intend to remain. They are not quite so "green" as Miller supposed them to be.

Not For Money.

Bilson had married a rich wife, and, finding it easy to live, had a good deal of time to loaf with the crowd at the drug store. One night they were talking matrimony, when Bilson remarked:

'Well, you may say what you please about it, I wouldn't marry any woman for money.'

'Rats!' yelled Brown, who knew Bilson quite well.

'What do you say that for?' I wouldn't,' he replied, sternly.

'You wouldn't? Well, didn't you [illegible] for money?'

'No, sir, I didn't, and the man lies who says so,' and Bilson rose in wrath.

'What did you do, I'd like to know?'

'Money was not considered, sir; I married for a home, and got it, but money, sir, was no object whatever to a man of my sentiments.'—Merchant Traveller.

Employer—'Well, I suppose you will have to be more economical. By the way, Penwad, just draw me a check of five hundred dollars for my tailor and one of one hundred and fifty for my caterer, and you can pay that bill for the flowers of seventy-five dollars.'—Philadelphia Call.

AYER'S Hair Vigor cures baldness. Hair Vigor restores youthful freshness and color to faded and gray hair. It attains these results by the stimulation of the hair roots and color glands. It rejuvenates the HAIR and cleanses it. It restores to the that, either by reason of age or diseases of the scalp, has become dry, harsh and brittle, a pliancy and glossy silken softness of extreme beauty. There is no dye in Ayer's Hair and the good it does is by the VIGOR it imparts to the follicles, and the cleanliness and healthfulness of the condition in which it maintains the scalp.

AYER'S Hair Vigor renews the hair. Hair Vigor is the best cure known for Brashy Hair, Scald Head, Itching Humors, Tetter Sores, Torpid Follicles, and all other diseases of the scalp that cause the falling of the HAIR and its fading. Nothing cleanses of the nuisance of dandruff so perfectly, and so effectually prevents its return, as AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. In addition to the curative and restorative virtues peculiar to Ayer's Hair VIGOR it is a toilet luxury. The Hair is by far the cleanliest hair-dressing made. It causes the hair to grow thick and long, and keeps it always soft and glossy.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Contains no deleterious ingredients. Its use prevents all scalp disease, secures against the hair growing thin or gray, and surely cures all baldness th is not organic.

QUAKER

Is the Best

TABLE SAUCE.

Thousands of articles are now manufactured that in former years had to be imported, paying high import duty as it is now being done on Lea & Perrins table sauce; the QUAKER TABLE SAUCE takes its place; it has been pronounced by competent judges just as good and even better. The QUAKER SAUCE has Slowly but surely gained great importance and is replacing the very best imported sauce on the shelf of the grocer, the tables of the restaurant and the tables of the rich and poor men, greatly prized and relished by all on account of its piquancy, aroma, taste, strength and pureness. The inventor has by years of study of the secret virtues contained in the aromatic spices of the Indies and China, such as mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, genuine Jamaica ginger, and peppers and buds of trees unknown to most men, and by long practice succeeded to combine their extracts in such a liquid form as we now find it, of agreeable taste, and so invigorating as to be taken in place of stomach bitters. By manufacturing this sauce here, heavy import duties and freights are saved, and it is sold at a lower figure to the dealer, who making a better profit on Quaker Sauce can sell it to the consumer cheaper than the very best imported article hardly equaling ours. If your grocer does not keep it, write us for prices, etc. Sold in bottles or by the gallon.
